

MISS EWEART'S CASE STIRS SYRACUSE

Expulsion for Complaining of Food Rallies Supporters of Right of Petition.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sunday.—Miss Elizabeth D. Eweart, a pretty Syracuse University "co-ed" from San Francisco, who was expelled yesterday from the College of Fine Arts after the alleged ringleader of fifty Haven Hall girls complaining of their meals, to-day made public her version of a hearing before Chancellor James R. Day. She said:

"I do not know why I should be singled out from the other girls, although I did refuse to give in, as they did. I believed that when we carried our complaints to Dr. Day we should stick to them, and I did. I believed that I was standing for the truth, and I will believe it."

"I have been taught too much about manners to show any disrespect to a man in his position. But he accused me of being the ringleader for the girls in a revolt and said he had known me for a long time. I answered:—

"Pardon me, Chancellor, but you just asked my name."

"The Chancellor said I had prompted the girls to make this petition. I replied to that:—'Don't you think, Chancellor, when fifty girls sign a petition like that they have some common feeling?' He answered:—'You credit me with having a very strong personality if you think that I could influence fifty girls.' He said:—'You look it.'"

Chancellor Day refused to make any comment on his action in dismissing Miss Eweart. He said it was a matter of college discipline, and, fearing summary dismissal other students have refrained from making open complaint on the case—realizing that would mean additional dismissals.

Miss Eweart, who is about to complete her third year at the College of Fine Arts, had signed her name at the head of the list complaining of the meals served at Haven Hall, which is a women's dormitory owned by the university and managed by Mrs. Georgiana E. Phinney.

The complaint was signed by fifty of the young women boarders, of whom there were seventy altogether. They charged that they were crowded, overcharged, that the butter was not good, that the portions were scant, and that dessert was wholly lacking.

Nothing what might happen if their names fell into the Chancellor's hands, the forty-nine "co-eds" who signed with Miss Eweart, withdrew their names, but not in time to escape the operation of university rule requiring public apologies.

The only part of the complaint Mrs. Phinney would admit to the Chancellor to be true was that the young women were sometimes crowded at the tables.

That the worst possible punishment—expulsion—should be visited on a girl student for no greater offense than complaining of her meals, and that the statements of fifty petitioners should be brushed aside by a mere statement of an interested university employee, has stirred the wrath of the student body to high pitch.

While they take good care not to talk openly, students call attention to the fact that the founders of the nation made the right of petition one of their basic demands. They ask how any abuses can ever become known and corrected if summary expulsion is to be the reward of those who complain.

Talk of taking Miss Eweart's case to the courts was heard to-day. It is even said that the right of college authorities to dismiss in an arbitrary manner has already been successfully resisted in more than one instance.

600 GUM MACHINES SEIZED IN THE BRONX
Superintendent of Highways Removes Penny in Slot Contrivances from Transfer Points.

Because Arthur Large, Superintendent of Highways, removed six hundred slot machines, containing chewing gum, from transfer points in the Bronx yesterday, a famine has resulted, which threatens to cause telephone girls and others much discomfort. Mr. Large said the machines were on public property. They are now in the Bureau of Encumbrances in the Bronx.

It long has been the habit of dwellers in the Bronx to drop a penny in the slot and get a piece of gum while waiting for cars. It was thus they cheered the time away. But now that is done away with unless the traveler carries his own package of gum, and time hangs heavily on the jaws in the northern borough.

DEER ATTACKS ITS KEEPER.
Frightened Off by Goring Tin Pail with Antlers.

John Quinn, a keeper in the deer enclosure in New York Zoological Park, in Bronx Park, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday when he was attacked by Jolo, a black-tailed deer. Quinn entered the enclosure with a tin pail filled with bran, when the animal attacked him. Quinn swung the pail in front of him and the animal's antlers penetrated it and frightened the deer off.

WHAT WOMEN FIND IN THE SHOPS

One of the most desirable accessories for the sick room is a large size bottle of lavender salts. A new style bottle, especially designed for the use of an invalid, shaped in a very convenient way for handling and filled with imported lavender salts, is shown by B. Altman & Co., and is priced at $2.50.

Swiss chalice is said to be a very good substitute for all other salts. It has the touch, wearing quality and appearance of the wool and comes in many attractive patterns. One pattern shown by John Daniel, Sons & Sons is a navy blue with white polka dots and a dainty border in which the conventionalized lotus flower is used. It is priced at eighteen cents a yard and comes in a thirty inch width.

A dainty model in a woman's chiffon waist was noticed at the Oppenheim, Collins & Co. store. It is a new design with net yoke and cuffs, with an embroidered collar. It is marked to sell at $3.

Every housewife likes to look as neat in the morning as possible. White lawn with an attractive printing makes a very good material for wear at that time of the day. A dress seen at Gimbel Brothers of this material, with a conservative printing of blue, is selling at $1.50. It is fashioned in a demi-tailored style, which makes it very appropriate for out of door wear on summer mornings.

A hand bag seen at Saks & Co.'s is made of heavy tan pigskin with a covered frame. The bag is priced at $3.95, a considerable reduction from the former selling price.

Little Hostess Gives Dinner to the Less Fortunate Children of Lower East Side

Dorothea Adler, Eleven-Year-Old Playwrite, Earned $50 by Her First Production, and with It She Feasted the Poor Boys and Girls at a Banquet Where Original Oratory and Mirth Followed the Many Good Things to Eat.

After sixty children of the east side had feasted at a dinner given to them by Miss Dorothea Adler, in the Café Little Hungary yesterday afternoon, Philip Crook, the "Job Hedges" of East Houston street, undressed his napkin from behind his neck, arose and said:

"Boys and Girls:—We want to thank Miss Dorothea Adler for this fine party. (Applause.) It was the best party I've been to this year. (Loud applause, for it is well known in East Houston street that Philip Crook, eleven years old, is the splendid diner out.) Nathan Hale said that he was sorry he had but one life to give for his country. I am sorry that I have but one stomach to give to this dinner. Now, three cheers for Miss Adler."

The speech was a knockout and lifted the little citizens of the east side right out of their chairs. The cheers were given and then ensued as Philip Crook led the performance standing upon a chair.

But, after all, what orator couldn't have made a speech before that audience! It was mellow with ice cream and the sarsaparilla had flowed like wine. As, with a final sigh, the ice cream plates were pushed away from the diners talent sprouted from all sides and both ends of the table.

First Miss Dorothea Adler, age eleven and the hostess, recited a piece called "Jimmie," and all the little east side boys turned admiring eyes upon her, while the girls, some in well worn frocks, whispered about her beauty and fine clothes.

"I hope," said one in a whisper, "that she won't like Abbie. Look at him staring at her!"

But the wave of envy passed, and the joy was unrestrained. All hands stood up and sang the "Star Spangled Banner" with true patriotic fervor. Then Miss Jennie Weissman, known in professional circles as "The Mary Garden of the East Side," offered to sing without being coaxed, and, just peeping over the top of the table, she sang "In the Summer Night." Then pieces were recited and songs sung with great rapidity.

The whole dinner and entertainment originated in the fertile brain of Miss Dorothea Adler, hostess, playwright and poetess, eleven years old, twelve in March. Recently she saw a latter day morality play, and she was so impressed that she wrote one herself and called it "Poverty and Fortune," and, while she didn't get her name in electric lights in front of any theatre, she had lots more success than many managers have attained this season, for she cleared $50, her expenses as a producer being slight, since the performance was given in the front parlor of her home, at No. 215 West Ninety-eighth street.

And she was the ideal hostess. Although Howard Wessel, the co-star of "Poverty and Fortune," sat beside her at the head of the table, she paid as much attention to Philip Crook, even at the risk of causing comment.

There was no let up from the time that a Jewish prayer was said, before the bread was broken, until the boys fixed the toothpicks firmly in their mouths. The dinner was a marvel. First there was soup, a Little Hungary, then fricassees, chicken, apple strudel, vegetables, soda, sarsaparilla, ginger ale, ice cream and toothpicks.

The children were selected as being the poorest in certain public schools. Little Dorothea slipped a dime into the extended hand of each of her guests when the party came. It was for carfare, she said.

According to the new system, the wound is left open for proper drainage and an antiseptic poultice is used.

This method has resulted in so many cures that Lynn doctors say the disease need no longer be classed in the "usually fatal" class.

James Kleases was discharged from the hospital to-day cured of anthrax.

Pulpit Oratory. An article telling of some of the noted divines of New York city who have won reputations as dignified and winning pulpit orators. Pen pictures of the men. Illustrated article in next Sunday's NEW YORK HERALD.

HURRY TRIAL OF M'FARLAND. Minister Accused in Girl's Dying Statement Will Face Court in Two Weeks.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sunday.—The trial of the Rev. Dr. W. D. McFarland, of Cedar Creek, Tenn., formerly a high school teacher here, who is accused of performing two operations, which resulted in the death of Miss Elsie Dool, Coe, his one time secretary, is to be held within the two weeks. The minister, arrested several days ago at his Tennessee home, was brought to Pittsburgh last night. He was released in $4,000 bail.

Edwin McConnell, of Chicago, was also mentioned in Miss Coe's dying statement. He appeared before the District Attorney, confessed his acquaintance with her and said he refused to marry him when he had asked her to do so.

FIND KNIFE CURES ANTHRAX. [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] LYNN, Mass., Sunday.—Physicians at the Lynn Hospital have discovered a cure for anthrax. It is an immediate operation.

CHEATING CHARGE STIRS COLLEGE ROW

Head of Albany State Normal Denounces Student Editorial on Fraud in Examinations.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] ALBANY, N. Y., Sunday.—Fifty per cent of the students of the Albany State Normal College are in the habit of cheating in examinations, "is the statement made in an editorial in 'The Echo,' the college magazine, for January.

When the startling statement had been circulated, Dr. William J. Milne, the venerable president of the college, addressed the students, denouncing the statement as an "outrageous lie and the grossest treachery" to the reputation of the college. When Harley P. Cook, the editor of "The Echo," arose to explain, he was not permitted to speak by Dr. Milne. The student body then posted a notice upon the bulletin board calling for a mass meeting of students. It was taken down by Dr. Milne's orders.

"I just as well didn't get a chance to say what I had in mind," said Cook to-day. "It would not do any good now." Cook says the editorial was based upon facts and written after permission from the faculty, though not submitted to Dr. Milne.

Dr. Milne said to-night:—"The incident is not closed. I have not the slightest idea cheating is as general as the article charges. There doubtless is some cheating, but the student is the party that suffers."

Buried Alive. Abdul Hamid, the deposed Sultan of Turkey, is not dead. He is consigned to a living death in a palace prison at Salonica. Complete illustrated story in next Sunday's NEW YORK HERALD.

STOKES HORSE FOR TUSKEGEE
Crystophouse, $20,000 Stallion, Given to Aid Negro School's Breeding Plan.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.] LEXINGTON, Ky., Sunday.—W. E. D. Stokes has presented to Booker T. Washington's Tuskegee Institute Crystophouse, a $20,000 trotting stallion, from his Patchen Wilkes farm here, and several other Eastern men have promised to give several fine standard bred mares to form the nucleus of a large breeding establishment planned for Tuskegee Institute.

Crystophouse is a three-year-old black stallion by Crystallion-Electro, with a two-year-old trial of 2:27. The horse was taken to Tuskegee this week by Edward Willis, Mr. Stokes' negro manager of Patchen Wilkes farm, and while at Tuskegee Willis received a $1,000 silver tray which Mr. Stokes had provided. An honorary degree also was conferred by Booker Washington because Willis had obtained the gift of the stallion from Mr. Stokes.

CRASH AT BROOKLYN BRIDGE. Man and Woman Hurt in Collision at Manhattan Terminal.

Two persons were injured and many others had narrow escapes late yesterday afternoon when two cars of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company were in collision at the Manhattan terminal of the bridge. The cars were well filled. Police of the bridge squad found Thomas Beatty, of No. 332 East Twenty-fifth street, Manhattan, who said his back had been wrenched. Miss Mary Marston, of No. 311 East Nineteenth street, Brooklyn, said her wrist was sprained. The accident caused a twenty minute tie up.

Actor Seriously Hurt by Fall. A man who says he is Thomas H. Gray, seventy-seven years old, and an actor, belonging to the Actors' Association of America, was taken to Bellevue Hospital last night suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, received when he slipped and fell on the sidewalk at No. 321 West Twenty-fourth street early last night. His condition is serious. He gave as his address No. 122 West Twenty-fourth street.

Trastevere, where dwells Palmira Cecani, the most beautiful woman in all Rome. She has been crowned 'Queen of Rome' on account of her beauty. A special story, with illustrations, by the New York HERALD's correspondent in Rome in next Sunday's HERALD.

Women's Clubs To-Day to Discuss Politics, Food, Music and Relief

Tea Room Talks on Domestic Science, an Address by Walter L. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, and a Social Meeting of Professional Women on the Calendar.

Tea room talks on pure food form a novel feature of the work being carried on by the Associated Clubs of Domestic Science, of which Mrs. Winifred Harper Cooley is president. Beginning this afternoon at three o'clock the first of a series of these interesting discussions will be given by Mrs. Cooley at a Twenty-second street show, where steaming Ceylon and fragrant Formosa are dispensed to fatigued feminine shoppers.

Mrs. Cooley, who was one of the organizers of the Pure Food Show last winter, is carrying on a vigorous campaign against all kinds of food adulterations and she tries to convert the manufacturers as well as the consumers. Her theory is that if New York housewives were more interested in the domestic machinery of their homes and gave more time to purchasing supplies instead of taking whatever happens to strike their fancy because of the attractive way in which it is wrapped up, a decided step would be made toward obtaining a higher grade of food materials. She will speak directly to the housewives this afternoon.

There will be numerous other meetings this afternoon and evening of interest to members of women's organizations.

"The Relation of the Ballot to Social Service" will be explained by Florence Kelley this evening at the headquarters of the New York State Woman Suffrage Association, No. 130 Madison avenue. Miss Harriet M. Mills will preside. Phala Club will give its annual luncheon and reception at one o'clock at the Hotel

Savoy. Mrs. Edward W. Foot will be chairman.

Cllo Club's topic for to-day will be Masterful. Mrs. Willis P. Whit will preside and Dr. Myrtle St. Croix Wright will be the speaker. The meeting has been set for three o'clock at the Hotel Astor.

Miss Gertrude Waldemar will address the members of the Political Equality Association this evening at eight o'clock at the club headquarters, No. 15 East Forty-first street. Her subject will be "Women and the National Crisis." Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont will preside.

The Women's Welfare Department of the National Civic Federation will meet at four o'clock at the Waldorf-Astoria. Walter L. Fisher, Secretary of the Interior, will speak on the "Interior."

There will be a social meeting of the Professional Woman's League at three o'clock at the club rooms, No. 139 Broadway. Mrs. S. Ludlow Neidinger will preside.

National Society of Ohio Women will give their annual card party this afternoon at two o'clock at the Waldorf Astoria.

The Theatre Club, incorporated, will have a committee meeting at two o'clock at the Hotel Astor.

The Monte Relief Society will meet at two o'clock at the Hotel Astor.

Mrs. Frederick Nathan and Miss Leonora O'Reilly will address the members of the Woman Suffrage Study Club this evening at the residence of Mrs. Richard Dwight, the Anthonys, Broadway and Seventy-eighth street. The subject will be "The Working Girl's Need of the Ballot."

The Fashion Supplement, Latest photographs from the famous milliners of Paris; special articles on women's fashions by experts. The most ornate fashion supplement on colored paper ever issued by a daily newspaper. It is an integral part of next Sunday's NEW YORK HERALD. Every woman should have it.

MR. SCHIFF'S PLAN MEETS OPPOSITION

Oscar S. Straus Questions Feasibility of Placing Inspectors Abroad to Lessen Deportation of Immigrants.

Jacob H. Schiff and Oscar S. Straus expressed differences of opinion on the immigration question when they spoke yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society in the Educational Alliance, United States Senator Boies Penrose was among the other speakers.

"I am not afraid of the future of immigration," said Mr. Schiff. "I do not fear that the bars will be put down. Certainly there will be some restriction. Some cannot enter, but even then you must not go too far. The immigration inspectors go too far."

Mr. Schiff asserted that laws ought to be passed providing for agents in foreign ports, who would make sure that immigrants before being allowed to depart were in no danger of deportation. He declared that persons who had a slight illness that might prevent them landing in this country should not be allowed to take passage.

"The Jews must keep quiet on the passport question," he declared. "A passport involves Americanism, not Judaism. Let the government work out the question. The American people have a deal of common sense, and that always comes to the surface."

In discussing the same question Mr. Straus said in part:—

"I differ with Mr. Schiff on one subject. I think perhaps it is his kind heart and ready sympathy that make him take the stand he does. If we demand of Russia, England, Italy and other European countries the right to place agents abroad for an examination of those planning to come to this country the foreign governments must be permitted to station officers on our soil for a similar purpose."

"I don't think the American people would allow that. It is better for us to suffer the evils of deportation than to permit such action."

Senator Penrose said in part:—"Russia has exercised repressive measures toward the Jews, apparently, because their superior mental endowment, energy and thrift are so great that the Russian peasant could not be left unprotected against them."

"No new treaty should be agreed to by this country which does not place all American Jews citizens of this republic on an absolute equality with all other American citizens. No discriminations as to race or creed ought to be permitted or tolerated against an element of our American citizens in any treaty to which the United States is a party. The principle of equal protection is an elementary principle of our government."

Leon Sanders, president of the society, read its annual report, and members of the Boards of Advisers and Directors were elected. A resolution to issue an appeal for the establishment of an endowment fund of $20,000 to aid in carrying on the work of the society was adopted.

DRY GOODS, &C.

Annual Clearance Sale

In accordance with the annual custom of this establishment the Entire Stock of Manufactured Furs is offered for immediate clearance at a Reduction of 33 1/3% from former prices

A complete and exclusive collection of Coats, Wraps and Jackets in all the fashionable furs, as well as the most recent and desirable models in

Neckwear, Muffs and Shawls in all the staple as well as novelty furs, Corresponding reductions in Fur Lined Garments and Motor Apparel.

Substantial reductions are also offered on all garments made to special measure, thereby giving customers who cannot be properly fitted from stock an opportunity of taking advantage of this exceptional offer.

George Booss
294 Fifth Avenue

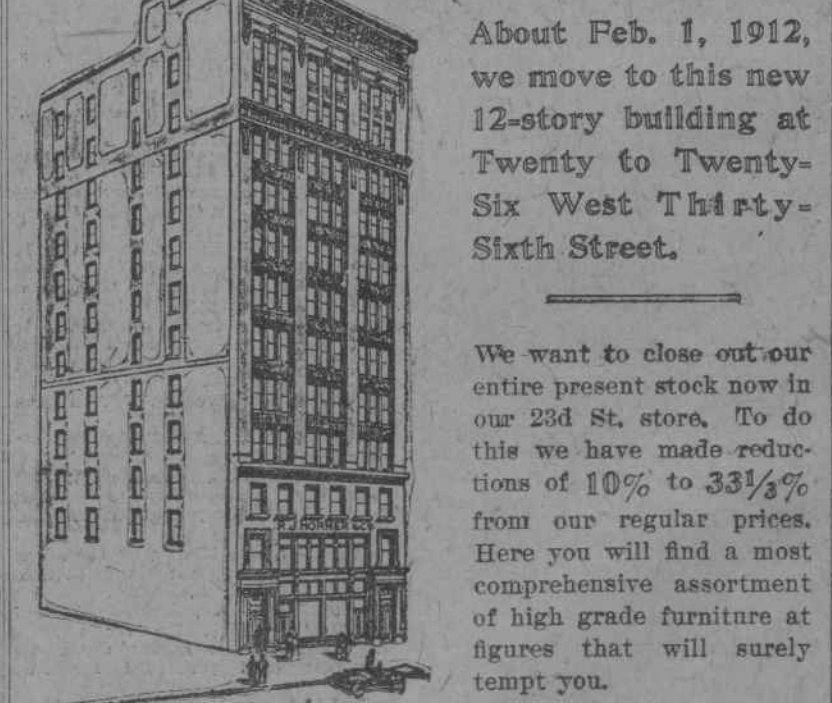

Near 31st Street. New York.

DRY GOODS, &C.

REMOVAL SALE

Clearance of HORNER FURNITURE

at 10% to 33 1/3% Reduction

R. J. Horner & Company

Makers and Importers of Artistic Furniture,

61-65 West 23d St. 36-40 West 24th St.

DRY GOODS, &C.

James McCreery & Co.

23rd Street 34th Street

ANNUAL SALE

GLOVES AND HOSIERY.

(For Men and Women.)

Commencing Tuesday, January the 23rd.

23rd Street 34th Street

SILK DEPARTMENTS. In Both Stores

"McCreery Silks"

Famous over half a Century.

The latest weaves and colors in Plain and Novelty Silks for Spring and Summer.

Exclusive designs in Printed Foulards and Taffeta Dress Silks.

Single width..... 75c to 1.50 per yd.

Double " ..... 1.50 " 3.00 " "

On Monday and Tuesday,

January the 22nd and 23rd

23rd Street 34th Street

DRESS GOODS DEPT'S. In Both Stores

New Importation of Spring Dress Fabrics, comprising the latest ideas for Tailor-made Dresses.

On Monday and Tuesday,

January the 22nd and 23rd

23rd Street 34th Street

8,000 yards of superior quality 54-inch

Whip Cord Suiting. A choice assortment of colors and black. 1.75 per yard

value 2.50

WASH-DRESS GOODS.

Irish Linen Suiting, rough crash weave, pure flax. Large range of the latest Spring shades, also black or white.